

Miss Knorr's Weekly Newsletter

August 12-16, 2019
kpknorr@auburnschools.org

This Week:

Reading: Characters

This week we will discuss characters and how to describe them and how they feel throughout a story. On Friday, we will take a practice assessment together to help students learn to use text evidence as they read and answer questions. Our spelling focus for this week will be short a and short i. We will take our first spelling test on Friday.

Math: Place Value

We will learn about how to represent numbers based on their place value and pictorial models. We will learn how to represent numbers in standard, word, and expanded form.

Language/Writing: Nouns

This week in language, we will be learning all about nouns. We will learn what a noun is and how to identify a noun as a person, place, or thing.

Science: Living and Nonliving Things

In science this week we will learn what qualifies something as living or nonliving.
