This Week:

Reading: *Character and Narrator
Point of View*

This week we will work on identifying the point of view of either a character in a story or a narrator of a story. We will also learn how to distinguish our own points of view from those of the character/narrator.

Math: *Chapter 8 – Understand
Fractions*

We will continue Chapter 8 in math this week. This chapter focuses on the basics of fractions and how to identify the different fractions. Please continue practicing multiplication facts at home.

Language/Writing: Helping Verbs

This week we will learn about the helping verbs and how they are used to support action verbs. We will learn to identify both the helping and action verb in a sentence.

Science: Force and Motion

In science this week we will continue learning about forces and the effects those forces have on the motion of objects.
